BESKRIVNING

Who corrupts, in which sectors of society can we find the bribe givers and what are they looking to accomplish? Who are targets of corruption, where are the persons who receive improper offers, what is being offered and how do the attempts at bribery take place? The aim of this report is to increase the knowledge of local government administrations, central government agencies and private companies with respect to the location of the risks. Having identified risk factors and risk areas, the reports also propose several preventative measures.
